Crippen Sentenced to Death Oliver Replies to City World Series Baseball Today

OLIVER SAYS THAT PLACING OF STAKES GIVES NO PRIOR CLAIM

In answer to the lettergram sent to the Hon. Frank Oliver, at Ottawa, on Thursday night, by the commissioners, calling attention to the efforts of outside capital to obtain the Grand Rapids water power rights, and asking him to protest against a granting of such rights in preference to the city, the following reply, which causes some relief has been received:

"City Commissioners, Edmonton:—

"Alas, your twentieth received. Placing of stakes does not give any priority of right to water power. When department has full information, right of development will be given on the responsibility of the government and on terms fixed by it.

From this reply the commissioners rather than the matter will be decided on its merits and they feel that the Dominion government will hardly lend itself to a furthering of the interests of private parties in opposition to the expressed wishes of the public.

Y.M.C.A. EXPECT TO RAISE OVER $9,000 BEFORE THIS EVENING

The clock was busy catching up time yesterday and today once more the total for the day in the Y.M.C.A. campaign crept above the $5,000 mark. $5,000 is our watchword for tomorrow," said Mr. Marshall, and my committee is going to do its part by raising $7,000. $30,000 by Saturday night."

The slight note of disappointment in yesterday's campaign was swept away in the burst of enthusiasm that pervaded last night's banquet of the Y.M.C.A. To begin with they had Mayor Lee with them, to give weight to the campaign, and Dr. McQueen, an old warhorse at the campaign, lent them his support. Then all hands were back to work and the money had begun again to creep up in spite of the drain of the city corporation on the ratepayers' ready cash.

Dr. McQueen's remarks, as the opening note, expressed a shade of regret that he was not in the fight with them. "I used to like that kind of thing. Now, gentlemen, it will be a splendid thing if you reach $30,000, considering the way things are going up in the city's campaign. I think you should hold him responsible for any deficit.

"I don't think undue pressure has been brought to bear on any one. I know of a few who have experienced it. Even the doctors in the lists with you have refrained from their practice of bleeding their customers. Well, my turn comes tomorrow. They have picked out a lot of hard-headed old Scotchmen which they think no one but the minister can touch.

"My bit of advice is to hold a meeting of the last to see that the whole field has been covered and get up the loose ends. On one memorable occasion the fragments amounted to more than all the rest, so my advice is to pick up the fragments."

Mayor Lee followed with a few words of encouragement. "The Y.M.C.A., he thought, were doing a splendid work and he echoed the words of Dr. McQueen to "pick up the fragments."

The reports of the various captains were called for and given as follows:

Batchard $707
Dingle $480
Gilbert $228
Kenway $476.50
Hutton $516
Marshall $806
McLeod $1055
Rice $1055

Total for day $5,039.50
Total for four days $20,699.50

Mr. Rice, who was the last of the captains to report, referred to the members of his team. The patients of Dr. Smith even got out of bed and came down to find out why he was not visiting them. He wasn't idle though, I can assure you. He was offered a job on the strength of his industry. We tackled one man who beat us out three times and when we came back the fourth time said: "Say, what will you fellows take to go on the road for the company?"

HIS EXPLANATION OF SLIDING BANK

Commissioner Bouillon Thinks Underground Waters Cause Frequent Landslides.

The commissioners have notified L. R. Voligny, engineer of the public works department, who is investigating the sliding bank, of the city's desire in the matter. Commissioner Bouillon attributes the cause of the conditions to a crossing of the bank and to underground waters which keep the soil in a saturated state, and as the river current removes material from the top of the bank, the entire mass naturally slides. He contends that the sliding will continue until a retaining wall is built along the river bank and the underground flow is interrupted at the top.

The expense of constructing the retaining wall should be done entirely by the government. The city would agree to undertake the grading of the slope so as to remove all superfluous weight. When both were accomplished the land would be reclaimed and made available for immediate use at least for park purposes.

PRINCE FRANCIS OF TECK DEAD.

(Canadian Associated Press.)

London, Oct. 22.—Prince Francis of Teck, brother of Queen Mary, died shortly after eleven o'clock this morning. He has been ill for some time with pleurisy. The King and Queen were at the bedside.

The above cut shows the corner of his den in his home on Kinistino avenue, where Edgar Abbott talks in wireless. The transmitter is seen to the left just beyond the second magazine. Above it is the transformer. Above that, on the wall, the spark-gap; the two zinc balls can be seen between which the spark jumps. In transmitting the current then goes over to the bird-cage-like structure which sends out the waves. To the left of that is the doughnut-transformer which regulates the size of the wave length. The incoming messages are received by the aerial, come down the wires and are intensified in the coil seen in the middle of the picture. The current is then received on an ordinary interruptor and the movements of this are carried to the receiver, which is worn on the head of the operator, and which permits even the faintest interruption of current to be heard.

EDMONTON BOYS TO TALK BY WIRELESS TO DISTANT POINT

Edgar Abbott, Ten Year Old Boy on Kinistino Avenue to Talk to Chum on Homestead Near the Pembina, Before Next Spring—Made Wireless Apparatus Himself as Well as Many Other Scientific Instruments.

Up on Kinistino avenue beyond the car tracks is a little house with which Edgar talks with his young friend, Leslie Tennant, some four blocks further up Kinistino. It was this aerial that first attracted a Capital reporter and led him to drop in last evening.

"Yes, I am Edgar Abbott. Interested in wireless?" Come up."

The reporter followed upstairs around a turn and into a little room dark at first, but brightened by the lights overhead, which flashed out, revealing that we stood in a dimly lit laboratory of light wires, connected all around us which the boy caressed with a loving hand.

"Oh, well, I haven't been working at it for six months. You see my mind went away with his folks to the homestead and I don't feel like running it alone. We used to have our apparatus running and give messages to one another. I hope I shall find someone to work with me this winter. It would be jolly working together."

Edgar then went on to display his instruments—transformer, spark-gap, glass plate condenser, interrupted, detector, head receivers, tuning coil, potentiometer, doughnut transformer. Everything was rigged for business and only awaited the magic touch.

"I made all these things myself," he told, "he said with a touch of pride. "This doughnut transformer keeps your message to a certain instrument which no one else can take. I just made that the other day. This transformer I bought. I had another one that I made myself, but it was hardly strong enough for this work."

And all this time the father had stood by in awe and admiration of this rosy-cheeked lad who seemed to have a scientist's grasp of the facts. They do not seem to understand him. He does not go to school like some boys. He has to work, but the joy other boys find in romp and frolic seems whelm in the quiet of his den where he rigs up strange devices and thinks up new experiments to try.

WATERWORKS DEPARTMENT WILL SHOW SURPLUS ON YEAR

By a rough checking it is estimated that the waterworks department will come out a little ahead on the year's operation, but the amount will not be definitely known until the balance sheet is completed, but it is thought that it will be between $1,000 and $2,000. During the past year considerable extension work has been done by the department from which no revenue has been derived, and besides the interest on the debentures providing for the extensions has been borne by the department. At the close of the last fiscal year the deficit of the waterworks department was in the neighborhood of $25,000 which was the result of the power house construction and subsequent compression. Nothing could be done this year toward the wiping out of that shortage and it will probably be at least two years before it can be cleaned off.

CRIPPEN, A WIFE MURDERER, SENTENCED TO DEATH TODAY

CHASED INVALID WIFE FROM HOUSE

Ordered Sick Woman to Get Up From Bed And Do the House Work.

HE USED BUTCHER KNIFE

And Threatened Death When She Refused—Woman Crawled Out on Prairie.

(Special to the Capital.)

Wetaskiwin, Oct. 21.—Angered because she protested against doing house work while yet a bedridden invalid, John Duke last night chased his wife from their home with a butcher knife. The woman crawled on her hands and knees for several hundred yards and rolled over from exhaustion. She was found four hours afterward by her brother-in-law, suffering from the intense pain of her illness and the cold.

The Duke has eight miles from here and they have had several domestic conflicts in the past. Mrs. Duke has been an invalid for the past two years and unable to perform her house work. She was found four hours afterward by her brother-in-law, suffering from the intense pain of her illness and the cold.

ARE QUITE SAFE

According to the precedent established some time ago by a police-magistrate at Montreal, who decided that there was nothing criminal in exhibiting light pictures of the local police have done nothing towards preventing them being shown here.

The R. N. W. M. P. also said that it was not in their province to interfere in any way. Some time ago they received orders to stop the pictures, therefore they must have received further orders to the contrary.

HE WAS BURIED IN COFFIN ORDERED FOR HIS PATIENT

A rather pathetic story is told at Edmonton in connection with the death of the late Dr. McNab there some weeks ago. While superintending the hospital work he attended a certain typhoid case which presented grave complications, and after fighting the disease for some time the doctor gave up hope. He intimated to the attendant that preparations had better be made for such a contingency and a coffin was prepared. The condition of the doctor and the circumstances under which he worked had laid him open to infection and he himself was stricken down. The disease worked rapidly and he died almost before they realized that he was ill. Meanwhile the man for whose life the doctor had battled took a turn for the better and recovered. Owing to the doctor's sudden death there was no other means of caring for the body except by recourse to the unused coffin; and in this, instead of the patient, for which it was ordered, the doctor's remains were laid and conveyed to Edmonton for burial.

Famous Trial Was Brought to a Close This Morning

When Jury Brought in Verdict of "Guilty"—Only Took Twenty Minutes to Arrive at a Verdict—Crippen Protested His Innocence

(Canadian Associated Press.)

London, Oct. 22.—After an impassioned address by Crown Prosecutor Muir, followed by a charge from Lord Alverstone which was quite favorable to Crippen, the jury retired and within twenty minutes brought in a verdict of "guilty of the murder of his wife, Belle Elmore."

His Lordship passed sentence immediately and held out no hope. As Crippen left the dock he was supported by a warden. His face was blanched and he was trembling in every limb.

He said: "I still protest my innocence."

The verdict of the jury caused a profound sensation in court as after the address of the Chief Justice it was quite expected there would be a disagreement or acquittal.

Lord Alverstone, chief justice, summing up, said: "Gentlemen of the jury, the time has now arrived in this great and important case for me to discharge my duty by directing you upon the facts of the law. Your duty will be that of considering what your verdict shall be."

His Lordship complimented the counsel of both sides on the way they had discharged their duty and expressed the view that the jury in deciding the case would go entirely upon the sworn evidence they had heard. "It is one of the unfortunate incidents of our present mode of life," said he, "that a public discussion of criminals takes place before they have been brought to trial. It was for the crown to make out its case. It was for the defense to show that the crown had done this. They must give the prisoner the benefit of the doubt. It is not for the jury to decide whether minor points had been established, to influence their judgment, if upon the whole of the evidence they had no doubt as to the result. Tobin had used the expression 'Certainly,' and rightly understood, it was not mistaking, but if by that it was to be supposed juries were not to act upon the evidence unless it got them in the position of having actually seen the thing done it was a misleading expression. But if they were not satisfied by the evidence that the crown had made out their case, the prisoner was entitled to be acquitted. Something had been said about Dr. Crippen not having given evidence before either the magistrate or the coroner. His Lordship did not agree with Tobin that it was a prudent thing for an innocent man in any case to reserve his defense. It was an error into which legal advisers had fallen for many years as the result of an old practice and the sooner this was recognized the better."

Whatever might be the jury's legitimate views on the case they must all agree that the defendant was an extraordinary man. If guilty, he had committed a ghastly crime; he had endeavored to cover up that ghastly crime in a ghastly way and had behaved in a most brutal manner. If an innocent man, it was almost impossible to understand his mind or character. He was utterly indifferent to the charge of murder, yet having, according to himself, the means to establish his innocence, no steps had been taken by him to establish his innocence or to support or confirm his case.

(Canadian Associated Press.)

London, Oct. 22.—Intense interest was shown in the closing hours of the Crippen case today and ticket holders assembled in court an hour before the resumption of proceedings. The chief justice found a full court in their places when he entered the court.

Crippen entered the dock, carefully arranged his coronet on the back of his chair and took a seat facing the judge, who at once asked the jury whether they had seen yesterday evening's Evening News.

"No, my lord," answered one of them, to which the judge said he would not refer to the matter any more now. He wished that an order of court be made for the attendance before his lordship in the course of the day of the editor of the Evening News.

Addressing Muir, His Lordship said he had received a great many communications bearing on this case, some of them entitled to respect. With respect to a question put by one of the jury, quite properly he thought, it would be fair to Crippen if he be asked a question about it.

Crippen went into the box and seemed quite composed, but apparently more anxious than yesterday.

His Lordship said, "Replying to a question yesterday you said that you got your information about hyoscine being used in homeopathic medicines from a Hump's Anatomy Dictionary, now," said his Lordship, "had you mentioned that book to your advisers?"

Crippen answered in a low and subdued tone: "I had not."

"You never mentioned it till yesterday?"

"No, my lord."

His Lordship said he wished to ask the question in consequence of information he had received.

Some more questions followed along the same line when his Lordship remarked that the question of administration by mouth or hypodermically did not appear important.

Muir rose to reply on behalf of the Crown and said he would not himself have thought it necessary for any one who had observed the demeanor of the jury during the trial to address words to them seeming to inform upon them the greatness of the task which they had undertaken, but his friend had thought it right to drag out of the limbo in which it rested many years the old forensic phrase in order to suggest in their minds that they had to be cautious and certain, in a case of life and death before they found a verdict of "guilty." There were cases in books of a terrified friend said, which showed that men have been tried for murder, convicted and hanged, and then the supposed

MONTREAL AND MCGILL LOOK LIKE THE WINNERS

Interesting Letter From the East, Discussing all the Latest Sport

(Special to the Capital)
Ottawa, Oct. 22.—Starting changes have taken place in the short two weeks that have elapsed since the opening of the rugby season, and while the championships cannot be said to have already clinched, the situation that now holds sway in the two leagues gives one a pretty good idea of how the major football leagues will go this fall. The turnover of some of the supposedly strong teams is discouraging to say the least, and the cham-ampionships will probably shift this year, with Montreal as the home of possibly the Interprovincial and Intercollegiate championships. The results of Saturday's matches only brought out one surprise, Montreal downing Ottawa on the latter's field, but the scores and general trend of the play was enough to show the class of the teams that were supposed to have been strengthened. The same stands good for both the College Union and the Big Four, and though on the face of the league story, it would appear possible, Montreal and McGill are strongly fancied for the big league titles.

Montreal Showed Class

Montreal fully earned her victory against Ottawa, the 1909 champions, at Lansdowne Park, the M.A.A.A. fourteen giving a grand exhibition of pluck and courage, when with the score nine to zero against them, they went out in the second half, crippled through the loss of a couple of stars, one of whom was knocked out in this game, and hatted their way to victory. The Interprovincial, they might call them, but nevertheless touchdowns in the legal sense, giving them a lead which they held to the finish. The winners showed a magnificent back division, while the outside wing, Cameron and Savage, rank as the best pair in the Union. Ken Williams is in a class by himself as a punter, and outbowed his brother Jack, who occupied centre half on the Ottawa fourteen. The latter man sadly lack condition, and they have dropped two games through this very fault. They have the stuff, but it appears as if a poor start will deprive them of the championship for a second year.

Hamilton Ate Argos

Hamilton made a meal of the Argos, the Osramen failing to show anything like the form that had been expected of them. In binkley, the Argos have a rattling good half, but he is continually being over-worked, and besides one man can never hold off a full team, such as always sports the yellow and black jerseys.

Things turned out as expected in the Intercollegiate, Varsity having a fine time disposing of Ottawa College, while McGill, though hard pressed at times, nosed out a winner over Queens. College was looked to place a strong team on the gridiron this year, but the absence of even one good half back, eliminates the College and grey from the championship race. Varsity looks strong, though it is freely admitted that Gall is the entire back division. The line looks good, however, and it would not be the least surprise in the world if the blue and white athletes repeated their Dominion championship win this season also.

McGill has a chance for the College title, while Queen's, though they have a rough bunch of rugbists, lack the finer points of the game necessary to combine a winning team. The Intercollegiate fight will be close this year, with the chances leaning towards Varsity, though McGill is a strong second choice.

A Nasty Rumor

An unpleasant accident cropped up during the week, when the Hamilton Spectator, immediately after the re-appearance of Jack Williams in an Ottawa uniform, came out with a direct charge against the Ottawa football club of professionalism in bringing in Jack Williams and Peter Ferguson, their side scrimmage as instances where the money had hastened their rugby inclinations. The story created a lot of talk, and the management of the Ottawa club have signified their intention of taking action against the Ambitious City scribble who so maligned their club.

Hockey

Of course the much heated controversy over the Stanley Cup is keeping this famous muck to the front, but developments are now coming to the fore, which indicate that there will be a decided change in the make-up of the big National League this winter. New teams are spoken of, while at least two of the present circuit and possibly three will get out. There is talk of bringing the old Quebec team back, while either Cobalt or Halesbury will discontinue. The Silver City sevens found the financial going pretty hard last season, the long trips east putting a big crimp in their gate receipts, and it is stated that there are still a bunch of unpaid bills to the credit of the Halesbury club.

It is more than possible therefore, that Cobalt, Halesbury, and Les Canadiens, the French seven that were carried along by Bonfren last winter, will not be in existence. But Geo. Kennedy, the Montreal athletic promoter, is at the head of a new French Club, and this organization will probably place a professional hockey team in the big league. Ottawa, Kennerly, Wanderers and Shamrocks, are the certainties, with Quebec, Cobalt, Halesbury and a French Canadian club among the doubtful ones. The annual meeting will be called soon, when a more definite story will be available.

The amateurs are also making plans for the extension of their league and it is possible that an eight club amateur organization will be put through a schedule before the winter closes.

Lacrosse

A few amateur teams are still fighting for district honors, and different cup ties, but lacrosse for the main majority of clubs is a past member this season. The C.L.A. teams are now in the throes of the saw-offs, but outside of a couple of exhibition features, there is absolutely nothing doing. The attempt of a sub-committee of the National Lacrosse Union to put through a bunch of by-laws that did not meet with the views of a majority of the teams, was frustrated and it is likely that there will be a shift in the make-up of the teams before next season. The Nationals game must be handled wisely if it is to be conserved for the rising generations of the Eastern Provinces, and such tactics serve only to put the game still lower.

Track and Field

The Marathon season has arrived, and already a couple of the season's big races have been pulled off. Jimmy George, the erratic Beaverton Indian, captured the Ward Marathon from a large field, while Edward White, of Brockville, won the La Patrie affair in Montreal. The number taking part does not appear to diminish, but it must be stated that the runners nowadays are much different as to condition, than the class of athletes who featured the races a couple of years ago. The development of the sport has likewise brought out more sane training methods, the result being that the general class of runners is showing a big improvement.

With the possible exception of the Woodstock games, the end of the month, the day of the short distance man and sprinter has expired this year. All the Canadian cranks will be on deck for the Woodstock contest, the last big meet of the year, and with a great gathering of the Maple Leaf stars, the track and field season of 1911, one of the greatest in the history of Canadian sport, will be given a suitable closing. The class of men is improving rapidly and it will not be many years before the Canuck sprinter, jumper, hurdler and weight thrower, will be facing the world with even odds.

Miscellaneous

Canadian cities are rejoicing in the great showing of the two Canadian ladies in the American championships, the big plan of the tournament falling to Miss Campbell of Hamilton, while another Hamilton lady went into the semi-finals.

Ten pin bowling has taken a big boom in the east and with the extension of the Canadian Bowling Association, and the Canadian Bowling Congress, the two governing bodies in Eastern Canada, the indoor game is assured of a great boost.

JACK JOHNSON AND JEFFRIES

Pictures of Big Fight at Reno, Nev. Were Shown in Edmonton Last Night

About six or seven hundred fight fans assembled in the Thistle rink last evening to see the original pictures of the Jeffries-Johnson fight. The pictures must have been original for the word appeared on about every yard of film.

It is hard to say why anybody wished to have the pictures prohibited. The fight itself is so tame that the Strathcona city council would permit it to pass unnoticed.

The early rounds closely resembled a hugging match, while towards the end Johnson so completely outclassed the hope of the white race, that all interest was lost. The preliminary scenes taken in the streets of Reno the training camps of the two fighters and the famous assemblage of hotel has-beens and champions, are the most interesting part of the evening's entertainment.

The pictures are not the best fight films ever seen in Edmonton by any means. Though not indelicate, the figures do not show up plainly enough to make every movement visible from all over the hall. In addition, the machine had a bad attack of whooping cough last evening and the long waits, though cut down by a band, did not appeal to the crowd. The show will be repeated at the Thistle rink tonight.

RUGBY CLUB'S BIG EXCURSION

Will Run Special Train to Calgary on Thanksgiving Day for Rugby Game

At a meeting of the Edmonton Rugby executive held last evening it was decided to give way to the Calgary demands and play in that city on Thanksgiving Day. The return game will take place in Edmonton on Nov. 5. The local club is taking big risks of bad weather in consenting to such an arrangement, but to give the players a game after practicing all season, it was felt a point should be strained.

However, next season when it comes to arranging dates, everything will be put down in writing as certain Calgary club officials seem to have an easy way of forgetting verbal agreements.

A Big Excursion

The Edmonton Rugby Club will run a big excursion to Calgary for the Thanksgiving Day game. A special train will leave here on Sunday morning at 12:35 and returning, leave Calgary Monday at midnight. This will do away with all the tiresome travelling by day and still enable everybody to have two days in Calgary.

A reduced rate of $3.95 has been secured and there will be room for everybody.

In addition to the Eskimos, the University of Alberta will probably take down a team to play Western Canada College, while there is some talk of Eddie Morris of the Olympic Bowling alleys taking some of his experts down.

In addition to the two football matches and the bowling games, Edmontonians will have an opportunity of seeing Tommy Burns, ex-champion of the world, in action. He gives his sketch and boxes an exhibition with Billy Lander in Calgary on Monday night.

CITY LEAGUE HOCKEY MEETING

Will be Held at the end of Next Week—Four Teams Will Enter

The annual meeting of the City Hockey league will be called at the end of next week by President J. W. Ward.

With the formation of a Provincial Amateur league it is absolutely necessary for the city of Edmonton district to get down to business and ascertain how many teams it will enter. The provincial organization meeting is called for Nov. 9, at Red Deer, so Edmonton will be represented by a delegate.

Messrs. McKenney, McGannon, G. Banford and W. Banford and McLeod, who professionalized themselves last winter by playing against Prince Albert, should apply immediately to the Alberta Amateur Athletic union if they wish to have any chance of playing amateur this season.

JACK KNOTT AT 'VARSITY'

Jack Knott, the well-known Y. M. C. A. baseball player and bowler, is now a student at Toronto University, taking Physical Science. Jack will be greatly missed in local amateur sport.

WILL NOT STAND FOR W.H. LUCAS

Helena is Favorable to International but Lucas Must Have Nothing to do With League

Helena will enter the international league, but on one condition, and that is, W. H. Lucas, late president of the Northwestern league, must have nothing to do with the new circuit.

According to a letter received by the Capital from the sporting editor of the Helena Independent, Mr. Lucas is very unpopular in Helena.

The letter says: "Ever since the new league was suggested, I have been a booster for it, and from what I hear among the fans of Helena, it seems to me that this city would become a member in the event of Butte and Great Falls doing likewise. However, it would be extremely difficult to interest those who in the past have backed league baseball here if W. H. Lucas, should be considered for president. We have had all the experience with Lucas as we want. "The Helena baseball club is a corporation, owning the grounds here in the only enclosed park, by the way in the city. Every director of that corporation is unalterably opposed to Lucas, and if he were to be president of the new league, I candidly believe that some other city would have to take the place of Helena."

"The view here is that some responsible businessman should fill this office without salary. In the six cities suggested there are plenty of men who would accept for the sake of the sport."

This letter from Helena will rather cast a gloom on the eulogy of President Lucas, which appeared in yesterday's Calgary Herald.

If the Montana cities, where Lucas is well-known, will not stand for him, there is no use even considering the matter. A president with the confidence of every club is required in order that the International may be successfully launched. Besides Mr. Lucas has almost definitely decided to accept the presidency of a league in the Southern States.

The International league appears to be a certainty now as late reports from Butte show that city will be in line.

ATTENTION, ESKIMOS!

There will be a practice of the Edmonton Rugby club this afternoon at three o'clock. As there will be a game with Calgary on Thanksgiving Day the players are requested to turn on regularly to practice all the coming week. The Belanger cup series for the championship of Alberta is about to commence and it is very important that the Eskimos be in good condition for the games.

Y.M.C.A. EXPECT TO RAISE

Mr. Magrath took exception to Dr. McQueen's words. "When you have a good cause press it. Most men need pressing. Take lots of time and don't be 'burned down'."

Mr. J. W. Fullbrook was called on and in answer spoke a few words expressing his regret that he had not got into the campaign sooner.

The incident calls for Marshall brought the champion heavyweight to his feet.

"Gentlemen, sometimes I think I get on the floor too much. You'll be taking me for Hon. Duncan Marshall, but fellows, I would like to give a word of advice. We must have system in this. Every night at ten o'clock, know just what time I'll have on the job next day and just where they'll be every hour of the day. No one should leave this room tonight till he knows exactly what he will do tomorrow."

Mr. Ward came last, and as usual, added a fresh word to the views expressed during the evening. It is utterly impossible, he said, in conclusion for us to reach the people of Edmonton, and I wish we could impress on them the necessity of them assuming their part of their responsibility. They are all well disposed to us. Why today we received a cheque from the Canadian Football Club with a nice letter concluding, "Keep the clock going." We like that.

"Now, men, as to the amount to collect yet, I shall tell a story I was receiving for tomorrow. In the Spring campaign in Ottawa they found on the morning of the last day that they had $6,700 to raise. But they decided to see it through and they went well over the mark. Now, we have still three days, and Sunday should be a good day for talking Y. M. C. A.

Here Dr. McQueen broke in: "As president of the Lord's Day Alliance, I will give you my full permission to talk Y. M. C. A. on that day."

The meeting closed with enthusiasm and the teams could be seen grouping around their captains planning their work for tomorrow. Everything points to a banner day.

SUPREMACY COURT.

A display of iron and steel in the supreme court this morning was the principal feature in an action involving agricultural implements. B. J. Neils of Lacombe is suing the Canadian Port Huron Co. for damages for breach of warranty in the matter of a threshing outfit sold him in 1906. The history of this equipment consisting of an engine and separator, seems to have been a chapter of accidents. The engine was of 32-horsepower, purchased to run either separator or plow, accompanied by a guarantee. From the very start it set out to prove itself a failure, according to the plaintiff.

ing to Neil's story. However, he struggled along with it, thinking at first the breakages were due to carelessness on the part of his employees. He had no better satisfaction, however, when running it himself. He refused to pay at first, but was sued by the Port Huron Co. and forced to pay the account.

The evidence so far has been contributed by Mr. Neil. Since Mr. McCall, counsel for the defendant, objected to the production of evidence leading up to the contract, maintaining that the contract as drawn up and signed by the two parties is to be the deciding factor. His objection was, however, overruled and Mr. Biggar went on with his evidence.

The case is an interesting one, as it illustrates the troubles encountered by farmers in purchasing and running threshing outfits. A guarantee was signed by both parties, ratification to be made in case of break down, provided that certain conditions were complied with. It will decide whether a company that has sold an article that fails to give satisfaction can impose certain conditions in their guarantee to protect themselves.

The evidence of the defense consists largely of exhibits of the defective parts. One of these parts, the pitman rod, could not be produced in court, so a model of wood was used. Mr. McCall objected to the production of anything but the original.

"Why, Mr. McCall," asked Mr. Justice Scott, "when the Bow River bridge case came up would you have had the court rule that the whole bridge must be produced in court?"

The case promises to be very long and complicated as a great many witnesses are yet to be called.

SMALL FIRE, BIG FUSS.

At 11:30 this morning an alarm was rung in from Archibald's drug store and Nos. 1 and 3 fire stations responded. Some rubbish was being burnt in the back yard and it had started to get away on the watchers. By the time the engines arrived the fire was out.

BIG HOTEL FIRE SAFE IS INTACT

The Albion Hotel at Carstairs, was totally destroyed by fire on the 24th of October. In the following testimonial the proprietor tells of the condition in which he found his No. 301 Hall safe today to find out contents in first class condition, is putting it in. The safe, having passed through an intense heat in the burning of the Albion Hotel at Carstairs on the morning of Oct. 24th, everything in connection with the hotel being destroyed beyond recognition and on account of the intense heat of the fire and the red heat of the safe after the fire had subsided, or burnt out, I did not expect to find the contents of said safe of any service to me, expecting to find them charred beyond all use.

On account of the good condition of the said contents, the said safe has compensated me for ten times its original cost. A drawer containing rubber bands I was surprised to find said bands in good condition. The films in the money drawer showed scarcely any evidence of passing through the conflagration.

It was the general opinion of the citizens of our town who have Hall's and other safes in use that on account of the great heat and small size of my safe, that the contents would be destroyed beyond usefulness.

Yours were truly,

T. E. DRISCOLL,

CRIPPEN, WIFE MURDERER, FOUND GUILTY TODAY

victim had turned up alive. There were such cases in a book of Sir Mathew Hale, who died in 1676. He mentioned two such cases which were old cases in his time. The world had contracted since then for the purpose of finding missing persons. Steamship railways, telegraphs and newspapers had made a vast difference in the administration of justice, since Hale's time, but his learned friend had found it necessary to flatter before the eyes of the jury that ancient logic as if they would be afraid to go home in the dark because of their consciences. They would return a true verdict to be as cautious as men could be, to be as careful as men could be, to be as certain as in the affairs of this life they could be, for this no caution he thought would have been necessary, and an attempt to frighten the jury would have been out of place. They would do their duty according to the ancient custom of the law which resolved all doubtful questions in favor of the prisoner on trial. If doubt there was, then the prisoner was entitled to be acquitted. His learned friend had said that newspapers published reports of this case had published one side only. Why to the public one side only? Because the prisoner chose to keep his mouth closed, because he did not choose to go into the witness box before the magistrate, because he chose to preserve those precious medical witnesses till his trial, witnesses who would, if they had gone into the witness box at the police court, have sworn to something totally different to that which they had sworn at the trial. And that being the fact his learned friend had thought it right to complain on behalf of the prisoner that the newspapers had only published one side of the case. The jury was also asked to disregard the plain facts because the prisoner was too kindhearted a man to have done the deed for which he was accused. Let them examine the foundation for that theory. The prisoner had admitted that over a long series of months he had led a life of studied hypocrisy and utter recklessness of pain which he knew he was calling would reflect on the friends or sister of his wife. What was this man's wicked feeling when he said to his wife's dearest friends who thought they were sympathizing with him when they wished to lay a last tribute of love on the grave of their dead friend, that the world was of no use, she being cremated, that the remains would soon be over her and then, with his tongue in his cheek, no doubt, Crippen had said, then they might have their little ceremony? And the jury were now asked to say that he was too kindhearted to do this deed. This was the man who had mocked the mourners had not sufficient control over his nerves to conceal the fact that he had done it.

Muir showed how Crippen had asked the jury to believe that his wife was unfaithful to him and that her love was fixed on Bruce Miller. The latter had crossed the ocean to contradict that statement. His learned friend said no adequate motive had been shown by the crown and said that the only motive put forward had been to obtain £600 from the bank and to marry Miss Leneve. Neither of these motives had been suggested by him (Muir) in his opening statement. An immediate cause of murder, a motive suggested was the establishment of closer relations with Ethel Leneve and to substitute for those clandestine meetings in the day time the permanent co-habitation of the two. What did Crippen care if he married Leneve? What was the necessity for it, for a man who within a fortnight of the announcement of his wife's death, pretended to this partner that he had married another woman? He was no stickler for ceremony. The motive was false, if it dignified it by that name, but, if they called it by its own more correct appellation, the most powerful of all motives, and money to gratify that lust immediately. They had it upon Crippen's unsupported statement that Leneve stayed all night at the Hillsdrop Crescent on Feb. 2. If that were true there was plenty of time from the morning of Feb. 1 for him to have got rid of the remains of his wife.

Concluding, counsel said: "Do not act upon anything against the prisoner unless you are satisfied as reasonable men beyond all doubt. But you must not let this murder, if it be one, go unpunished because of any hopey flattered in your face. Citizens of London, you are here to do your duty. I am quite sure you will have the courage to perform it."

Address for Defense

London, Oct. 1.—Counsel then adjourned for afternoon tea. On resumption Tabin arose to reply for the defense. He addressed himself to every one of the arguments of the former address. Miss Leneve had slept at Hillsdrop Crescent on February 2nd. Was it conceivable that the night before Crippen had taken the life of his wife? His flight was an act of folly, but no proof of his guilt. Suspicion was not enough. The jury must be satisfied that in the case was the flesh of a woman. They must be persuaded beyond all reasonable doubt that the bits of flesh found in the cellar were those of the woman who was Ethel Leneve. Strange things had happened in legal history. In the course of time, Elmore might in truth appear again. No adequate motive for the crime had been put forward. He did not plead for mercy. He was covered with anxiety that the jury should by will power expel the person and prejudice which must have instilled their minds, by reason of the lies, folly and beyond that of what had appeared in the newspapers. All that he pleaded for was that they give a verdict with minds unclouded by any preconceived prejudice.

His lordship in adjourning the court said that the book mentioned by Crippen, if found, would be at Tabin's disposal at the resumption of the proceedings.

ST ELMO AT THE EMPIRE

Dainty Alice Kennedy and her superb company including Jack Westernman, will be the attraction at the Empire Theatre, October 24, 25 and 26, presenting Auguste J. Evans, romantic idol of the old south. "St. Elmo." The story of St. Elmo has been for two generations one of the most widely read of all American novels. Every public library has one or more copies on its shelves and it can be found in every book store whether in the country village or the largest city. For this reason the dramatization of "St. Elmo" is of unusual interest not only to those who have read the novel, but to those who have not. Miss Kennedy, as Edna Earle, the orphan, has appeared in nearly every city in the United States and Canada, in St. Elmo, and has been a prime favorite wherever she has appeared. The press and public have been unanimous in their praise of charming Miss Kennedy. Jack Westernman, as "Aaron Hunt, the old village blacksmith, appears in a part that shows his wonderful versatility as an actor.

may be you get the exact reproduction and can easily imagine the great artists in your presence. All this can be accomplished with a Phonola.

Phonola has come and gone, still you may hear her many times during the winter—we now have records of her latest songs.

Perhaps she was your favorite, if not, there is Tetrazzini, Hames, Farrar, Calva, Caruso, Dalmaros, Scott, Homer and others, Maud Powell's violin solos, quartettes, Sena's and Pryer's Bands—there is no limit to the choice.

The Pollock Phonola is the newest and greatest of all musical instruments—produces a sweet mellow tone and is the best of its kind. There are many individual features embodied in the Phonola. The motor is the strongest and most durable. The Tone Arm is another perfect feature, while the soundboard construction within the instrument does away with the visible metal bar. Today the Best Instrument on the Market is the POLLOCK PHONO. DO NOT confuse these with others of a similar name and character.

ABOUT TOWN.

Miss R. B. Hunter, 646 Seventh street, will receive for the first time this season on Wednesday next.

The funeral of the late Miss Orestia Campbell will take place from the family residence 536 Fourteenth street on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock instead of 2 o'clock as formerly announced.

The entertainment which was to have been held this evening by the Temperance and Moral Reform League has been postponed until Friday of next week. Further notice will appear.

Arthur James and Bernice James were yesterday morning committed for trial on a charge of theft, at the next sitting of the district court. They were arrested by the R.N.W.M.P. for breaking into a shack in the north end.

His death occurred early yesterday morning of Mrs. E. O. Swen of Chipman in this city. The remains are at Connolly & McKinley's parators being held until her relations can be communicated with.

SUNDAY MEETING.

The pleasant Sunday afternoon meeting at the Orpheum Theatre on Sunday next at 4 o'clock will be of an entirely character. Owing to the kindness of several ladies a permanent orchestra will play at the services.
Mr. L. K. McGregor will sing several songs. The Rev. Robert Pearson, of Grace Methodist church, will give an address. Hymns will be chosen upon the screen. Mr. G. Kenway will take the chair. All who are wishing to attend a pleasant hour come right along.

Yesterday afternoon James Wolfe was fined $2 and costs by Magistrate Cowan for leaving a team of horses insufficiently secured on Jasper avenue.

GET BLUE PRINTS OF PLANS

The two sets of blue prints to be taken from the twenty-four detailed explanatory plans which accompanied the letter reports, which were ordered by the commissioners for working purposes, will also be taken, and designed by the lack of frames of large enough size to accommodate them. It is possible that the duplicates may be made at the government buildings. In size they are 72 by 60 inches, while the largest frame in the city engineer's office is only 60 inches in length.

CIVIL SERVICE TENNIS.

The prizes in connection with the civil service tennis tournament were presented yesterday afternoon by Premier Sifton at the government buildings. The challenge cup, the gift of Mr. Cushing, to be held for a year, was won by Miss Florence Ross.
The first prize, a silver ring, donated by Mr. Mitchell, was won by Miss Ross. The second prize, a brass bowl, was won by Miss Edith Webster, and the third prize, a piece of cut glass, which Mr. Bowers gave by Miss Merrill.

The young ladies presented to Mr.
O'Brien, the umpire, a box of cigars.

Dear Madam :
Since our notice of a change in the management of The Bon Marche, we have made a lucky purchase of choice furs of the latest Fashion Stock at a low rate on the dollar and we are placing the entire stock on a beneficial sale.

Contractors, Attention !
Our new electric floor surface smooths, sandpapers and polishes hard wood and soft wood floors, and does as much as six good men It's still better on Terrazzo floors. If you want to repolish an o-floor try it with the brushes that go with it and see the wonderful results. Moderate rental per day.
